

Miss Rose Peterson, Secretary Parkdale Tennis Club, Chicago, from experience advises all young girls who have pains and sickness peculiar to their sex, to rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hopeless women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and periodic pain, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally.

If you know of any young lady who is sick, and needs motherly advice, ask her to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., who will give her advice free, from a source of knowledge which is unequalled in the country. Do not hesitate about stating details which one may not like to talk about, and which are essential for a full understanding of the case.

Miss Hannah E. Merston, Collingswood, N. J., says:

"I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular. I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Fannie Kumpfe.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it is my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have derived from your advice and the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The pains in my back and womb have all left me, and my menstrual trouble is corrected. I am very thankful for the good advice you gave me, and I shall recommend your medicine to all who suffer from female weakness."—Miss FANNIE KUMPF, 1922 Chester St., Little Rock, Ark. (Dec. 16, 1900).

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure any woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, nervous prostration, and all forms of woman's special ills.

The Worst Kind of Gnat.

"There's lots of different kind of gnats in this world," remarked the man with the raveled smoke, "but the gnat that says, when you ask him into a tobacco store to have a cigar: 'Gimme a pack of cigarettes, comes pretty nigh t' bein' the pup of them all.'"

Truth About the Circus.

"Going to take the young ones to the circus, I suppose," sarcastically inquired the Pervasive Nuisance. "No," replied the Calm Man, "I am not. They're out in Ohio visiting their grandmother. But I am going myself."

What Everybody Says.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—For a year or more I have been suffering with severe pains in the small of my back and kidneys; had tried a number of remedies but without relief. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and purchased two boxes, and after taking the first box of pills I was relieved of all pains, and have not been troubled since. Prior to taking these pills it was impossible for me to get a full night's sleep, but I am now sleeping peacefully. I am now able to do my usual work, and I feel like a new man. I feel now that I am cured by Doan's Kidney Pills; but here I am, sixty-six years old, and I feel like a new man. I feel now that I am cured by Doan's Kidney Pills; but here I am, sixty-six years old, and I feel like a new man.

ACHING BACKS ARE CAUSED. Hip, back, and loins aches are caused by Doan's Kidney Pills. They correct urine with brick-dust sediment, high colored, excessive, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, bed wetting, Doan's Kidney Pills dissolve and remove calculi and gravel. Relieve heart palpitation, sleeplessness, headache, nervousness.

FREE—HOPE FOR THE HOPELESS.

International Lesson Comments For May 24.

Subject: Paul Before Agrippa, Acts xvi, 19-29—Golden Text, Acts xvi, 22—Memory Verses, 27-29—Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

19. "Agrippa." Herod Agrippa II. was king of the country east of the upper Jordan and the Sea of Galilee. He had a palace at Jerusalem, and was professedly a Jew, and was versed in Jewish customs. He was the son of Herod Agrippa who slew Jews and imprisoned Peter. After the destruction of Jerusalem, A. D. 70, he was deposed, but permitted to retain his wealth, and lived at Rome until A. D. 100. He was a Jew, but not unjust in his rule, and has been considered the best in the Herodian family. "Not disobedient." This is one of the grand points of Paul's whole career. He began on the instant, where he was, to obey. He sought on the instant, and ever afterward, to know and do the Lord's will. "Heavenly vision." The vision which appeared to me, manifestly from heaven. He was obedient and yet it certainly cost him a hard struggle to renounce all for Christ.

20. "First unto Damascus." He began to preach at Damascus immediately (Acts 9: 20-22), but soon went to Arabia. From Arabia he returned again to Damascus (Gal. 1: 17, 18), where the Jews sought to take his life. Paul escaped by night, being let down by the wall in a basket (Acts 9: 23-25). "At Jerusalem," etc. He specifies, as his fourth field of labor, first, the two cities of Damascus and Jerusalem, then the whole region of Judea, and, lastly, the heathen world. "Should repent." He had sought to win men back to God, to reveal Christ and His complete work for man's redemption, that they might repent and turn to God; that, with a divinely reformed heart and reversed life they might do works acceptable to God. The doctrine of repentance was frequently preached by the apostles. It includes both contrition and reformation. The truly repentant one is heartily sorry for all his sins, so sorry that he turns away from sin forever, and if possible would undo all he has sinfully done. Confessions are made, wrongs are righted, and the soul, loathing itself, cries to God for mercy.

21, 22. "For these causes." Because he had obeyed God according to his distinct revelation, in a manner displeasing to the Jews, they had sought to kill him. "In the temple." Paul was worshipping in the temple when the Jews sought to kill him. It was not by any power of his own he had been preserved, but it was because God had interposed and rescued him. "Witnessing." Bearing testimony, as he had been commanded, "Witness to those in humble life, to the poor, the ignorant and the obscure." "Great." The rich and noble: to kings and princes and governors. He had thus stood on Mars' hill at Athens, he had borne testimony before the wise men of Greece; he had declared the same gospel before Felix and Festus, and now before Agrippa. "Saying none other things." He added nothing to the facts of his life, but was in exact agreement with Moses and the prophets. This fact utterly overthrew all the charges of his accusers.

23. "Much learning." Many writings had turned his brain, the idea being suggested by Paul's many allusions to Moses and the prophets. The tendency of long continued and intense study is to narrowness of mind; (2) their levity of life as religious melancholy; (3) their joyful hope as fanaticism.

24. "Beside himself." The loud voice was the effect of his surprise and astonishment. What Paul had said of a resurrection from the dead accomplished in Jesus was the first fruits of a person coming from the Jews who should enlighten not only his own people, but even the Gentiles—among the rest, the polite and learned Greeks and Romans of the Old-Fellows' Home at Lynchburg and will take charge July 1, when it opens.

The Plan Who Bluffed.

"I put up with all kinds of swindles and all sorts of hotels making my European trip," said a lawyer the other day; "but at Rome I found an American who wouldn't be swindled. At Rome the landlord of the hotel deliberately robbed me by charging up extras I had never even heard of, but when he tried the same game on the chap from Ohio there was a situation."

"Sir," he said to the landlord, as he towered over him, "I am General Abercrombie Burt. I am, furthermore, the United States of America. I'll declare war and blow old Rome off her seven hills before I'll pay these items!"

"They were promptly crossed off, and in the eyes of the landlord the general was five times a bigger man than any English lord who had ever occupied his rooms." At Florence the hotel man sized up the general as "fair to medium," and gave him poor quarters and insisted that he could do no better. It took the man from the West about fifteen minutes to get his dunder up. Then he appeared in the office, and, drawing himself up to his full height, he imperiously announced:

"Sir, I am the United States of America and a considerable slice of Canada and Alaska besides! What is your lowest price for this hotel for spot cash?"

"But what is the matter?" asked the landlord.

"The matter is that I want to be lodged as befits my position. If you don't sell me I'll buy the terrace opposite and build a million dollar hotel and let all my guests stop free of expense!"

"The general got a suite of rooms that were being held for a duke, and everybody around the hotel tumbled over themselves to wait upon him."

A Judge's Experience In a Treadmill.

An amusing story is told of a certain well-known judge who, when inspecting the prison of an assize town, expressed a wish to try the treadmill, "to see what the punishment is like." Such a wish was, of course, law, and the judge quickly found himself treading a mean, which, however, novel and exhilarating at first, soon became a terrible burden to fourteen stone of solid and untrained flesh.

As ill-luck would have it, his next neighbor on the mill was a burglar who the judge had sentenced the day before, to "eighteen months' hard."

"Stop, let me off!" cried the judge, as he dragged out weary legs after the other up the endless staircase; but it was impossible, for the terrible machine could not be stopped for at least ten minutes.

This was the burglar's opportunity for revenge.

"Open yer like it!" he said, to the perspiring and now frantic judge. "Wishes yer had two 'yerd' ard, but who'd a thought ye'd be such a hidiot as to come o' yer own accord? Yer might have the 'ole mill to yerself, and welcome, for me."

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

ST. PAUL, MINN., 521 Wabasha St. Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., Dear Sir:

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down, and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—Bess F. Healy.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, sticky, bad-tasting, coated tongue, flat, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
